

LARVABLOCKS ROADMAP

As of right now this is a community and art ran project. There are definitely more things we want to do but we need the support from the community to do so. We don't want to make false promises which is why we are not making a full on roadmap atm. One thing we will promise is when minting is sold out 10% will be donated to cancer research!

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO DO

Since we don't want to make false promises these are all ideas and not 100% in play right now! These ideas would possibly be put in play after sellout.

We really want to integrate LarvaBlocks into various metaverse projects and other games!

To do so we would want to hire someone more experienced with that stuff to make sure it is done properly! Also with the way the larvablocks look it may remind some of minecraft, that being said a minecraft server is also an idea.

Another idea is voxel models being created and either airdropped to holders or another mint and each holder can mint one for free and the rest go to the public. There's a lot of ideas we have and would love to be able to follow through!